The course of the market yesterday was apparently very fittle controlled by the war news. In the early part of the day there was a reaction from the opening later the advance began again. Although the close was very little away from the opening, the differences were in most cases in favor of the bulls. Perhaps the tion. They seemed to point to another Manila. There was a unanimity, too, that seemed to preclude the possibility that there could be any mistake. Yesterday's advices, while making it certain that Col. Hoffman of the Eighth Pennsylthere was a warm scrimmage, also show-ed that the damage on both sides was small, and the results unimportant. It less easy to account for the subsequent advance. The later news was no better Beaver, ex-governor of Pennsylvania, and Cot. McCook, of New York visited the Pennsylvania regiments during the af-ternoon and were pleased with the ap-pearance of the troops. pearance of the troops.
Each company of the various regiments has been supplied with a large number of wagons which are stationed beside company quarters.

All of the regiments had dress parade last night. The Sixth Illinois out more than the carrier. In fact, the day was singularly devoid of news of any kind. Perhaps the meaning of the situation is that the average trader is not bullish in his inclination, but not overwhelmingly so. He is willing to be boistered up by All of the regiments had dress parade last night. The Sixth Illinois put up a splendid appearance.

The band of the Eighth Ohio gave a fine concert in the evening which was largely attended.

ins inclination, out not everwhelmingly so. He is willing to be bolstered up by events before he goes very deeply into trades of any kind.

The look of the market for the present is good for the buils. The developments of the next few days can hardly be anything except builtsh. The battle that must come at Santingo mist be a great one unless Cervera gives up before it occurs, and there is not much chance that this will occur. The victory is assured for America. The outlook after that is equally encouraging and row. There now seems no hitch in the program and no chance except for an uninterrupted series of victories. The war may not be within a few days or weeks of its end, but it now seems very certain that there will be no victory possible for Spain. The financial condition of Spain has much the look of dition of Spain has much the look of desperation also, and it is certain that that country cannot carry on a war with-out funds. To the careful observer there is very good reason to believe the present prices will be exceeded by an average of five points within a month, and this too taking into account the fact that the market has been bought in advance of the reality of the situation.

The continued strength of Sugar while working so hard and apparently with so much success is hard for the average trader to understand. Yesterday there was a new high figure for the present movement. Also the close was very near the high for the day, and there was an appearance of strength in the last hour that seemed to have nothing of fear in it. There is a feeling among careful cbervers of the Sugar Trust manipulation that perhaps the trust would not so much mind the annexation of Hawaii after all. A careful analysis of the situation really shows nothing in annexation that should frighten the trust. I look for some re action from the prices just at the mo-ment, but I see no reason why there should be any large drop, and do not be-ission buying in them. Perhaps it is commission buying it them. Perhaps its safe to say that for a time no advance in the grangers should be expected. From trading in some of the lower-priced securities yesterday it seems prob-able that the second stage of the advance of the market has come or is likely to come now. This stage when the lesser securities are taken up is as well defined usually in any good rise as the prelim-inary advance of the gilt-edged properties. There can be no question that many of the second rate properties afford an excellent chance for profit on the long side now if there is to be any permanence in the bull movement.
